62 TRAPPED!

SUBMARINE SINKS OFF PORTSMOUTH

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 23—With 62 men aboard, the submarine Squalus sank today off the Isle of Shoals, about 12 miles east of Portsmouth Navy Yard.

The 62 men—including six naval officers, 51 crew members, four navy yard workers and one civilian—are trapped in 240 feet of water, according to information received over a phone line from the sunken craft.

According to Rear-Admiral Cyrus W. Cole, commanding the Navy Yard here, the Squalus was assigned to make test dives this morning on the test grounds, about 8:30 o'clock.

When she had not been heard from two hours later, the submarine Sculpin wa ssent out to learn progress of the dives.

Sculpin discovered a red smoke bomb on the sea and then found a floating buoy to which was attached a telephone line.

Over the line, when it was connected, Lieut.-Comdr. O. S. Naquin, commanding the sunken craft, said the submarine had been disabled when a high induction valve had failed to close properly, crew quarters are flooded.

AMERICAN FLAGS WAVE GREETING
As Tribute to Archbishop Spellman

Installed as Sixth New York Archbishop

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, May 23—From the narrow iron bed of the late Patrick Cardinal Hayes, his beloved predecessor, the Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman arose today to be installed as spiritual leader of the vast and wealthy New York Roman Catholic archdiocese.

Beside the simple bed, in the small, plainly furnished room, the humbly born New England son knelt and asked for divine guidance for discharge of his duties as archbishop, sixth of his line in New York and, at 50 years, the youngest.

Then, robed in silk and linen and the brocade and jewels of his lofty position, he was installed in his new office with all the majesty and splendor of the Catholic Church's age-long tradition.

His Excellency Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, was the officiating prelate at the installation.

PRELATE'S VOICE BREAKS

The venerable, white-haired Msgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's, who served as deacon of honor to the Apostolic Delegate when the late Archbishop Hayes was made an archbishop 20 years ago, and who acted in the same capacity today, read the Papal Bull notifying the new shepherd of his appointment.

There came a tremor in the white-haired prelate's voice when he reached the name of Cardinal Hayes:

"Wherefore, since the Metropolitan Church of New York has been bereft of its pastor by the death of its archbishop of most cherished memory, Patrick Hayes."

Msgr. Lavelle's voice faltered, then broke, and it was nearly half a minute before he could resume.

HYMN OF GLORY

Streets in the area were thronged with thousands of men, women and children as the long procession wended its way into the cathedral.

Shortly after 10 a. m. this procession started into the rear of the great church as mighty chimes pealed out a welcome from the twin spires and the deep-throated organ filled the edifice with the surging notes of Ravanelle's "Hymn of Glory."

Great multitudes had assembled, lining Fifth avenue, 50th and 51st streets, as the procession progressed slowly from the archbishop's residence in Madison avenue.

The spectators gazed in silent awe at the spectacle of the procession, which was headed by the band of the 151st Infantry and included religious and diocesan clergy, monsignori, abbots, bishops and archbishops, vested in all the colorful raiment of their churchly stations.

NATION-WIDE HOOKUP

BACKUS OUSTER FAVORED, 3 TO 1

With the State Public Utilities Commission studying evidence produced during the ouster proceedings against John H. Backus, director of the commission's securities division, it was learned today at the State House that the commissioners stand three to one for dismissal of the official.

Commissioner John J. Curley, brother of the former Governor, has not attended any of the hearings because of illness and is not expected to vote, although he has the right to do if he wishes.

Under the law, should the commission vote to dismiss Backus, its decision would then go before the Governor and council for approval.

Governor Saltonstall asked for dismissal of Backus on the ground that the securities head "impugned" the governor's motives in seeking to abolish the division.

McGlue's Trial Off for Week

Trial of Charles H. McGlue, former chairman of the Democratic State Committee, charged with failing to file a federal income tax return in 1935 when he is alleged to have had a gross income of $34,000, was again postponed today on plea of his counsel until a week from tomorrow.

His counsel, Attorney Matthew L. McGrath, told United States District Court Judge Hugh D. McLellan that McGlue was trying to straighten out the matter with authorities in Washington.

New Taber Mills To Give Jobs to 750

NEW BEDFORD, May 23 (AP)—Jobs for 750 persons within six months were forecast today as a new firm, to be known as Taber Mills, Inc., took title to the closed Taber plant, which ceased operations nearly a year ago. The new firm will manufacture adhesives.

Archbishop Spellman's First Address to His New Charges

NEW YORK, May 23—Under the same roof where, nearly 23 years ago, he celebrated his first mass in America, Archbishop Francis J. Spellman today delivered his first sermon as shepherd of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York. The new archbishop said in part:

You Excellency the Apostolic Delegate of our Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, brother bishops, brother priests, brothers and sisters in Christ, my dear brethren:

A traveler in search of a temple enshrining the beauty and majesty of religion may stand within this cathedral and be satisfied that he has found an answer to his quest.

The grandeur of this holy place has lifted up the lowly and taught humility to the mighty. At its portals, the world seems left behind and every advancing step brings Heaven nearer and deepens the soul's union with Divinity.

HAS COME TO STAY

As a child I was brought here by my father and mother. As a youthful student in this city, often did I come here to pray, and never did I come without feeling renewed in the life of the spirit. On the altar in the lady chapel of this cathedral on July 16, 1916, I offered my first mass in America.

Today, I have walked along the long aisle and approached the altar, not as a young man come to commune with God, and then to depart fortified with newfound grace to meet the problems of youth and of scholastic tasks, but I have come in my mature years to stay, to stay with the keys of this building of God and all that it typifies and signifies entrusted to my care—here to remain, until God calls me to render an account of my stewardship.

To me, it is not without significance that my advent is in the spring time of the year. The spring is the time for planting. I come to sow the seed of the Gospel. The ground is good because those who tilled it before me have left it so. The soil itself is active, and my helpers, the zealous clergy, the self-sacrificing religious and the devoted faithful of the laity are also good.

From the hand of him whom God has called to eternal rest, the former great-hearted shepherd of this archdiocese, Cardinal Hayes, I take up the work before me.

It is impossible that I should not be profoundly influenced by

Queen Mary Bruised, Shaken in Car Crash

LONDON, May 23 (INS)—Queen Mary, 72-year-old mother of King George VI, narrowly escaped serious injury today when an automobile in which she was riding struck a motor truck and overturned.

Extricated quickly from the wreckage, the Queen Mother was found to have been badly shaken and bruised, but not seriously injured. She was taken to the home of a physician near the scene of the accident, and later to her London home, Marlborough House.

Royal physicianse made a thorough examination of the Queen, and a report on the accident was prepared to be cabled to King George and Queen Elizabeth, now traveling in Canada.

Queen Mary's car was moving along the Wandsworth road, a direct route from Windsor to her London home, when the accident occurred.

RESCUED BY WORKER

Her car was thrown on its side, and the aged Queen was imprisoned inside until a house-painter, working near the scene, rushed up with a ladder. Placing the ladder inside the car, he assisted the Queen in climbing out.

The chauffeur and a lady-in-waiting, who accompanied the Queen, helped take her to the doctor's house, where she remained half an hour.

Ambulances were summoned, but they were not needed. The Queen, despite the shock she had suffered, quickly regained her composure, and smilingly reassured those about her that she did not believe she had been hurt.

A small cut, however, was seen on one arm, and this was bound up by Fred Revell, son of the physician in whose house the Queen waited. The doctor was away.

"The Queen was obviously suffering severely from shock when she came in," Revell said.

BACK IS INJURED

"I gave her a cup of tea and some aspirin, and treated the slight cut on her arm.

"She soon recovered, but complained of a pain in her back, and said she thought there was a bruise, but insisted that a complete examination should wait until she returned to Marlborough House."

In the car with the Queen were Lady Constance Milnes-Gaskell and Lord Claude Hamilton.

Lady Constance suffered a bruised arm and Lord Claude, comptroller and treasurer of Queen Mary's household, had cuts on one hand.

ERNST TOLLER AND ACTRESS BRIDE

Ill Health Blamed For Toller Suicide

NEW YORK, May 23 (INS)—Ernst Toller, one of the most famous poet-playwrights ever to become a refugee from Nazi Germany, was dead today, a suicide by hanging. He was 46 years old.

His secretary, Isle Burroughs, who returned from lunch to find him suspended from a door with the cord of his bathrobe around his neck, was said to have told police that Toller had been in ill health for months, and that he had been very despondent.

Detectives said they had found only $15 in his pockets and that his bank books and other accounts showed that he was in financial difficulties. However, they added his secretary told them that Toller had intended to buy a ticket to Europe, had $2000 in cash and had sent $500 to the Palestine fund a few days ago.

Toller's name, famous throughout Europe, was introduced to this country a decade ago with his highly successful "Man and the Masses," produced by the Theater Guild.

At the outbreak of the World War, he joined the German army and was wounded two years later. He started anti-war propaganda before the Armistice was signed and was imprisoned.

He became internationally famous subsequently for his open opposition to Germany's National Socialist (Nazi) party and was forced to leave that country when Hitler came into power.

His wife, the former Christina Grautoff, German film actress, was in Hollywood.

STORK TOO LATE FOR THIS $25,000

A hope that she would become a grandmother for the fifth time before her death was revealed as foiled today when the will of Mrs. Florence Louisa Gallup, Newton, was filed in Middlesex probate court.

Because that hope was never realized, a $25,000 special bequest goes to the residue of her estate instead of the grandchildren she had hoped would be born before her own life ended.

The will, sharing cash property of $191,800 among all relatives and employes, provided that each of the four present children of the testatrix's son, William Albert Gallup, investment counsel, described as the "only heir-at-law," should receive bequests of $25,000.

The special provision was:

"To another grandchild which may be born after the date of this will to my son and survive me—$25,000."

The will was dated November 17, 1938. Mrs. Gallup died May 13 of this year. It was explained that since no fifth grandchild has been born in the interim the bequest will revert to the residue of the estate.

Any child born in the future to Mrs. William Albert Gallup would not, in the legal sense, "survive" the testatrix, it was explained.

Mrs. William Albert Gallup, who also lives in Newton, was left $50,000. Her children who were bequeathed $25,000 each are Lucy Pollard, Florence Louisa, Jane Taylor and William Albert, Jr. In addition they will share their grandmother's personal effects and jewelry.

To Louisa E. Gallup and Mrs. Stella E. Spruill of North Adams and Miss Sara B. Hill of New York city $30,000 was left in trust of the testatrix's son.

Elizabeth Gallup Ridley, North Adams, daughter of Hailey A. Gallup, was bequeathed $5000.

Another $5000 was left to Allan B. Ensign of Newton, described in the will as the "long time confidential" employe of the testatrix' husband, the late William Arthur Gallup.

Bridget Bresnahan of Chestnut street, Newton, described as widow of John C. Bresnahan, "long time in my employ," was left $500.

FEMININE FLIERS—Off for New York from East Boston Airport go these 12 women flying members of the 99 Club, where they'll join other pilots before presenting plaque to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. They are (l. to r.) Louise Howard, Norwood; Jean Adams, Cohasset; Margaret Kimball, Lexington; Mrs. E. C. Hilton, Marblehead; Constance Sheridan, Brookline; Hortense Harris, Champaign, Ill.; Mary Davis, Somerville; Helen Manson, Brookline; Katherine Montgomery, Dedham; Dot Garside, Canton; Edith Jenney, Jamaica Plain, and Lillian Holmes, Milton.

Children Win In Will Fight

In a rare will contest setting the immediate needs of two parents against future provision for their children, Judge John C. Leggat ruled today in favor of the children.

The case involved the will of the late Mrs. Dora W. Knight of Belmont, who left her $15,000 estate to her son, John C. Knight of Belmont, and her daughter, Mrs. Ethel H. Stahl of Dana avenue, Hyde Park. She later added a codicil providing that the money should be held in trust, the interest going to Knight and Mrs. Stahl while they lived, and the principal reverting to their children.

Knight has two children, Mrs. Stahl four.

The son and daughter sought to have the codicil set aside, on the ground that their mother was of unsound mind when she made it, and was subject to undue influence.

Polygamy Bride's Jail Term Voided

Her No. 2—or "spare"—husband having taken himself out of her matrimonial tangle by obtaining an annulment of his wedding bond, pretty 24-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth P. Herman had a jail sentence for polgamy set aside in Roxbury court today.

Spin and span and smiling, in a new spring suit, with jaunty hat to match, the too-much married yeung Back Bay wife earnestly promised Judge Frankland W. L. Miles she'd play no more bridal roles until legally free of husband No. 1.

Mrs. Herman landed in the toils when she eloped to Seabrook, N. H., with Kenneth Brenner, Back Bay night club entertainer.

Two weeks after their wedding, Wilbur Herman, husband No. 1, found them together in their honeymoon apartment—and complained to police!

He said Mrs. Herman had a divorce action pending against him, but was still legally his wife.

On May 3, Judge Miles sentenced her for polygamy to an indefinite term in Sherborn women's reformatory. She appealed.

Meanwhile, Friday, Brenner won annulment of the No. 2 marriage. His petition was granted by Judge Frederick J. Dillon in Suffolk probate court.

Her matrimonial status thus back to normal on the record, Mrs. Herman threw herself on Judge Miles' mercy today.

She withdrew her appeal of the reformatory sentence, pledging herself to good behavior.

The judge then suspended sentence and released her on probation for two years.

Wealthy Wife Asks Mrs. Belcher Arrest

Arrest of Mrs. Ethel Belcher, government witness in the recent Knox murder trial, was sought today by wealthy and socially prominent Mrs. Elfrieda Allyn of Oakland avenue, Arlington.

She accused Mrs. Belcher of repeatedly calling her vile names over the telephone.

Mrs. Allyn is plaintiff in a $50,000 alienation suit against Mrs. Belcher, for laleged theft of the love of her estranged husband, Phillip M. Allyn.

The suit was brought in Suffolk Superior Court soon after Mrs. Belcher had testified in the trial of former State Trooper George T. Knox, who was acquitted of the slaying of Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, Charlestown divorcee.

Today, Mrs. Allyn appeared before the clerk of East Cambridge District Court, seeking a warrant against Mrs. Belcher on a charge of disturbing the peace.

She said she was continually annoyed by abusive and threatening telephone calls from Mrs. Belcher.

Hearing on Mrs. Allyn's complain was postponed to May 26 at Mrs. Belcher's request. She said she wished to retain counsel.

Seize Boy Fugitive After He Robs Aunt

A 13-year-old boy who, last Thursday, fled the state training school, was picked up on a downtown street today by police, after his aunt had complained that he stole $40 from her home in Commonwealth ave.

The boy had been sent away for truancy. His aunt said he entered her home through a back window. Police found a bus ticket to New York and $38.16 cash in his pockets.

British Deceit Of Arabs Bared By Lawrence

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—A hitherto suppressed chapter of the late Col. T. E. Lawrence's "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," published today, says Lawrence was "continually and bitterly ashamed" of his part in the Arab revolt against Turkey in the World War.

Lawrence wrote that the Arabs were deceived by a British conspiracy with promises of self-government. He wrote:

"I had to join the conspiracy and for what my word was worth assured the Arabs of their reward. In our two years' partnership under fire they grew accustomed to believing me and to thinking my government like myself sincere.

"Instead of being proud of what we did together, I was continually and bitterly ashamed.

"It was evident from the beginning that if we won the war these promises would be a dead paper, and had I been an honest adviser of the Arabs I would have advised them to go home and not risk lives fighting for such stuff."

For this reason, Lawrence wrote, he refused all honors and later joined the Royal Air Force as a private. He was killed in 1935 in a motorcycle accident.

The chapter of "Seven Pillars of Wisdom" published today had been omitted from a limited, costly subscribers' edition of the book on advice of George Bernard Shaw and for political reasons. It is included in a new volume of miscellaneous writings, "Oriental Assembly."

Four armed Boston gangsters—now credited with a long series of unreported horse-room hi-jackings—today were sought for the raid of Searles mansion in Salem, N. H., where 40 bettors were lined against a wall at the point of shotguns and robbed.

Massachusetts state police centered their search in Boston soon after the speeding bandits outdistanced troopers of the Andover barracks by riding the railroad tracks and then escaping in a second stolen machine.

The amount taken at Salem was estimated roughly at about from $700 to $1500. The proprietor lost $250.

Chief Tighe Admits Calling Aide 'Liar'

One member of his two-man vice squad was unfit, and he called the other "a liar, politely speaking," Edward J. Tighe, absent-on-leave police chief of Revere, testified today as he closed his own defense in Suffolk Superior Court.

With former Mayor James M. O'Brien and 11 other defendants, Tighe is on trial on charges of conspiracy to allow gambling in Revere. His testimony concluded, he rested his case.

Louis Glicksman

Tighe testified Police Lieut. Henry Tracy, appointed with William C. Gibson by Mayor O'Brien to serve on the Revere vice squad, "wasn't heavy enough" for a job as a plainclothes detective.

Tracy and Gibson are co-defendants in the conspiracy trial.

CALLED GIBSON LIAR

Recalling his testimony in a closed hearing of the Metropolitan District Commission anent Gibson's statement that he had complained to his chief about gambling in Revere, Tighe revealed that he called Gibson a "liar."

"Was your answer, 'He is a liar, politely speaking?'" inquired Assistant Attorney General Derham.

"That is true," said Tighe.

Louis E. Glicksman of Revere was called by James P. Brennan, O'Brien's attorney, to deny that Mayor O'Brien had ever told the Jewish Men's Club in Revere "there are seven horse joints operating in Revere, and what of it?"

CALLED CITY "CLEAN"

Asked about the mayor's alleged remark to the Jewish Men's Club in comment on a radio broadcast commentator who charged the existence of four wide-open gambling places in Revere, Glicksman quoted the mayor:

"'He might have said there are 11 or 14, as far as we know.'"

He testified that the mayor added:

"'Revere is a clean city, and I intend to keep it so.'"

Glicksman further testified that he had circulated a letter among the club's members, after publication of an account of the meeting containing the mayor's alleged quotation, and that the letter had been forwarded to the Revere newspaper publishing the account.

The letter protested the accuracy of the newspaper story, Glicksman said.

The witness admitted talking to the mayor after the incident, but denied the mayor ever said to him:

"'I thought that what I said at the club was going to stay there.'"

TIGHE ENDS TESTIMONY

Glicksman also said he had never quoted the mayor in that way to Samuel Harris, a government witness who testified to that effect earlier in the trial.

The Glicksman testimony came after Police Chief Tighe had been examined, cross-examined, re-examined and re-cross-examined in winding up his own defense.

In response to questions by Assistant Attorney-General John S. Derham, Tighe testified he did not want Tracy as a plainclothesman.

Tracy didn't have the right disposition for the job, Tighe told the court.

"He didn't have the best disposition in the world," said Tighe. "He wasn't heavy enough."

"Did you tell that to the mayor?" asked Derham.

"No," said Tighe.

MADE NO COMPLAINTS

The chief remembered, he testified, speaking of "the powers that be" refusing to let him close up gambling spots to Louis J. Croteau, Watch and Ward Society investigator.

Questioned by his own counsel, Wendell P. Murray, about the merits of government witness John McCauley, who testified earlier that he had complained of gambling to Chief Tighe, Tighe said he knew McCauley as a man who introduced a bill to abolish all laws in the State Legislature.

IRON LUNG YOUTH NEAR SHRINE GOAL

LE HAVRE, France, May 23 (AP)—Fred Snite, Jr., the man in the iron lung, today started the final lap of his pilgrimage to the shrine of the Virgin Mary at Lourdes.

Speeding through the countryside at 50 miles an hour in a specially built trailer, young Snite chatted cheerfully with his attendants. The first scheduled stop on the trip to the Pyrenees shrine was Tours, in the heart of the Chateau country of Touraine.

Snite's father, a wealthy Chicago loan banker, said the pilgrimage was "as much of a thanks offering for a miracle which already has taken place as prayer for another miracle."

"The miracle to me is that he has lived through these last three years," the father said, referring to his son's existence in the mechanical respirator since he was stricken with paralysis at Peiping on a world tour.

Early this morning young Snite was changed from the iron lung to another model suitable for trailer transportation.

The patient breakfasted in the trailer after leaving the French liner Normandie, and then the caravan of eight cars, carrying the father and mother and a sister, with attendants, started south.

LEWIS, CIO SUED FOR $7,500,000

CLEVELAND, May 23 (AP) — The Republic Steel Corporation today filed a suit in federal court here under the Sherman and Clayton acts asking $7,500,000 from the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee and CIO President John L. Lewis. The corporation alleged the damages resulted from the "little steel" strike in 1937.

Republic Steel charged the defendants "entered into a combination, confederation and conspiracy in restraint of trade and combined to force a closing of the plants" of the corporation.

The plaintiff also asserted "total damages, direct and approximate sustained" amount to "not less than 2½ million dollars and under the provisions of the Clayton act, the plaintiff is entitled to recover the aforesaid damages three-fold."

Last week CIO filed with the National Labor Relations Board wage claims of about $7,500,000 against Republic, contending the amount was due as back pay from the time NLRB ordered strikers' reinstatement in 1938, as operations permitted.

Arguments on Republic's appeal against the NLRB reinstatement order have been set for hearing in August by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

65,000 Idle In Auto Strike

DETROIT, May 23 (AP)—Approximately 65,000 auto workers were thrown into idleness today as a strike in seven plants of the Briggs Manufacturing Company caused widespread layoffs in the highly integrated motor industry.

Chrysler Corporation announced it would shut down 10 plants in Detroit, Newcastle, Ind., and Kokomo, Ind., and would be unable to operate any of its units here except Dodge Truck.

The spread of idleness resulted from the cutting off of automobile bodies which the Briggs Company supplies to a large part of the motorcar industry.

Only 15,000 men were directly affected by the Briggs strike, which was called Monday by the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

13 DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

BUCHAREST, May 23 (AP)—A string of heavily loaded freight cars running out of control down a mountain near Cernauti today crashed into a passenger train, killing 13 persons and injuring more than 60.

Wonder Cures Draw Millions to Lourdes

One of the strangest pilgrimages ever made to the world-famous shrine at Lourdes, France, left New York May 17. It was that of Fred Snite, Jr., 28-year-old Chicagoan who was stricken with infantile paralysis three years ago and ever since has lain in an iron lung. What Lourdes is and what he could hope to find there during his nine-day stay are told in the following story.

TOURS, May 23 (AP)—A riverside grotto at Lourdes, France, has become one of the most cherished of Catholic shrines since a young shepherdess 81 years ago told of visions in which the Virgin Mary came to her there.

Millions have visited the grotto and its miraculous spring for physical and spiritual healing. Many who came helplessly have walked away, reporting themselves cured and leaving behind as votive offerings the crutches which line the wall of the grotto.

It is to that shrine that Fred Snite, 28-year-old Chicagoan who has breathed with an iron lung since infantile paralysis struck him three years ago, has gone.

More than three-quarters of a century ago Bernadette Soubirous, a 14-year-old peasant girl, told skeptical clergy of her visions at the grotto on the banks of the Gave de Pau in the Pyrenees.

She had seen, she said, a beautiful lady "lovelier than I have ever seen," in a hollow of the rocks. She told of 18 visions within six months.

The last, she informed priests, had ordered her to have the church build a chapel on the spot and have processions come there.

In the grotto itself visitors now see Bernadette's vision—depicted by a great statue of the Virgin in a hollow of the rocks to the right of the spring.

Now the Bureau of Medical Authentication of the grotto reports 4000 cures, partial or complete, were effected in the first 50 years of the shrine.

Cures have been claimed for nervous diseases, tuberculosis, tumors, sores, cancers, deafness and blindness.

Paris Backs Soviet Demand on Britain

By the Associated Press

The power of the French general staff provided additional pressure today for a mutual assistance treaty to link Britain and France with Soviet Russia.

Negotiations for such a pact, designed to counter-balance the Rome-Berlin axis, occupied representatives of the three powers in Geneva for a meeting of the League of Nations council.

Reliable reports said Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, had decided to try to overcome the British cabinet's reluctance to enter into a broader pact.

Informed Geneva sources said the French general staff had exerted strong pressure on Premier Daladier and others to back the Soviet Union in her insistence upon guarantees of mutual aid, closer ties than Britain thus far has been willing to make.

SEEK DANZIG REPORT

French declared that the existing French-Soviet treaty and common French-Soviet interests would bring France, and therefore Britain, to Russia's aid if she were attacked. They said the main thing to be gained from recognizing this in a triple accord would be direct exchanges of British and Russian military and naval information.

League officials decided to send Charles J. Burckhardt De Reynold, League high commissioner to Danzig, back to the Free City for a report on the situation created by German claims for Danzig's return.

The commissioner has legal power to call for Polish troops if he considers them necessary, and it was said Poland wanted him back at the post from which he had been absent since March 19.

A Danzig newspaper published a speech by Nazi leader Helmuth Andres declaring that the slaying of a Nazi by a Pole at Kalthof last Sunday must and would be atoned.

JEWS WOUNDED

Speaking to a mass meeting at the village of Tigenhof last night Andres urged, however, that Danzig citizens leave the choice of methods to Adolf Hitler.

Italy made preparations to collect her war debts from nationalist Spain by accepting Spanish raw materials valuable for munitions manufacturing.

A reliable informant said Generalissimo Franco owed Il Duce about $500,000,000 for planes, guns, munitions and other supplies used in winning the Spanish civil war. Spanish iron ore, mercury, and other natural resources are to go to Italy in repayment of the obligation.

Four Jews were wounded, one seriously, when a truck bearing Jewish workmen was ambushed today by Arabs on the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road near the Sarafand military camp.

Premier Baron Kichiro Hiranuma of Japan and War Minister Lieutenant-General Seishiro Itagaki cabled congratulations today to Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini upon signing of the German-Italian military alliance.

Mistrust to Doom Russ Pact

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GENEVA, May 23—Profound mutual mistrust is the background of the negotiations between Soviet Russia and Britain. There is little likelihood any true military alliance will be reached.

This is the opinion today in authoritative French circles, which stress the belief the British will never consent to exchange their military secrets with Russia, and that lacking this, the agreement will neither satisfy the Russians nor convince Hitler it means business.

The French are more certain of this because they themselves have never yet exchanged their fundamental military plans with the Red army staff. The French-Soviet pact of mutual assistance which gave Hitler the excuse to denounce Locarno and reoccupy the Rhineland, was concluded May 2, 1935.

During the four years following the Soviet government constantly but vainly pressed the French to exchange staff talks.

F. D. Enigma on '40, But Tells Platform

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 23—President Roosevelt didn't say yes and he didn't say no about a third term, but friends and foes alike knew today—if they never knew it before—that he intended to be a very potent factor in the 1940 campaign.

All this was contained in his carefully prepared address to the American Retail Federation last night, in which he unmistakably pledged himself to fight for a continuation of what he termed "the conservative New Deal" as against the "radical gamblers" of 1929.

Without committing himself on the all-pressing question of whether he will again be a candidate, Mr. Roosevelt most definitely set the stage for next year's presidential struggle.

CROSS-COUNTRY TRIP

Within a month—unless Congress decides to adjourn quickly—the President will be on his way across country once more. With Asheville, N. C., as his first stop and San Francisco as his last on the Western swing, he will have an opportunity to carry last night's philosophy more directly to the people. If he returns from Seattle via the Northern route, more voters will hear the same doctrine.

Mr. Roosevelt said nothing new at the Retailers' National Forum. He merely re-emphasized in best campaign style what he said in Madison Square Garden on the eve of the 1936 election, and in other speeches before and since.

The issues as he will make them will still be the same. The New Deal candidate—and it appeared anti-New Dealers in the Democratic party were going to either accept that candidate or a fight in next year's convention—will stand on the same platform Mr. Roosevelt has fashioned in the last six years.

REFUTES THE DOLE

This platform embodies adequate care for the one-third of the population "that is ill-clad, ill-housed, ill-fed."

It calls for continued government spending to build up the purchasing power of the consumer.

It frankly concedes a balanced budget next year is impossible.

It puts the tax burden on the higher brackets as against the little fellows.

It refutes the idea of a dole as against work relief.

It calls for more social security.

It forecasts in the near future a nation that can pay its own way.

And the Roosevelt enemies are to be the same. He singled out the Republican national committee and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in particular as he denounced those who seek to retire his philosophy.

"You cannot expect this administration to alter the principles and objectives for which we have struggled in the last six years," he said, after collectively ridiculing the U. S. chamber members, laughing at the G. O. P. "national debt week," currently being exploited by the opposition, and promising that if one sort of tax were taken off the very wealthy corporation or individual a compensating levy would be substituted.

Using all radio facilities, the President hammered home an argument designed to register in the middle-class home and the home of the under-privileged.

He pointed out, for instance, that all of the "hullabaloo" about repeal of the undistributed profits tax would affect less than 2 per cent of the taxes in that bracket.

A small blaze elsewhere in the hotel was quickly extinguished.

500 HUB FOLK SEE SERVICES

By JAMES F. McENANEY

NEW YORK, May 23—More than 500 persons from Boston and from his late parish, the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Center, today attended the colorful ceremonies attending the installation of the Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman as archbishop of New York.

Former Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts, his wife and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Donnelly, were among the first Bostonians to arrive at the cathedral.

Curley and Mrs. Curley, U. S. Senators David I. Walsh and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., both of Massachusetts, and Attorney-General Paul A. Dever were seated in the same pew.

Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty, who had acted as greeter to the arriving Bostonians in front of the Cathedral, took the wife of Mayor Maurice J. Tobin in hand when she became separated from her husband in the crowd. The mayor and his wife sat in different sections.

Present also were Boston Fire Commissioner William Arthur Reilly, Robert M. Spellman and Frank J. Spellman, 3d, nephews of the archbishop; Dr. Martin H. Spellman, brother of the prelate, and Mrs. Spellman and Miss Kathleen W. Spellman, a niece.

HIS FATHER PRESENT

With Dr. John Spellman, another brother of the archbishop, and his father, William Spelman of Whitman, Mass., sat six nuns of St. Joseph's Order, attached to the Sacred Heart parish, Newton Center.

Also observed in the throng inside the cathedral were Judge and Mrs. Francis J. W. Ford of Boston; Dr. Edward J. O'Brien and daughter Mary, of Commonwealth avenue; Dr. Joseph O'Connell, nephew of Cardinal O'Connell; John Ryan, publisher of tthe Pilot; F. O. Dumaine, president of the Amoskeag Mills; Richard Shaw, Boston architect; Frank Carroll, banker, and former Fire Commissioner and Mrs. Edward McLaughlin of Boston.

Four monsignors, Richard Cushing, Jeremiah L. Minihan, Francis L. Phelan and Richard J. Haberlin, representing Cardinal O'Connell.

Revs. Bernard J. Winn and John Reynolds, curates at Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, spent considerable time with the archbishop at his new home in Madison avenue, to the rear of the cathedral, before the installation ceremonies.

Mrs. Vincent Greene of Dorchester, president of the League of Catholic Women, was also an early arrival. She was accompanied by Mrs. Emlyn Mitchell, president of the Sacred Heart Day School Alumni.

About 150 priests from the Boston archdiocese were among those what were aboard the Eastern Steamship Boston that arrived here this morning.

The following New England bishops participated in the ceremony: Bertram Dolan, St. Anselm's Abbey, Manchester, N. H.; Matthew F. Brady, Burlington, Vt.; Joseph E. McCarthy, Portland, Me.; James E. Cassidy, Fall River; Thomas O'Leary, Springfield; John B. Peterson, Manchester, N. H., and Maurice F. McAuliffe, Hartford, Ct.

Archbishop Spellman's Address

the life and virtues of my revered predecessor, Cardinal Hayes.

TRIBUTE TO POPE PIUS

In my deepest heart this morning, I carry the thought of him who has sent me to you—our holy father, Pope Pius XII.

Shall I not say more—that the Holy Father fulfills the desires and needs of all of us. How else explain the universal joy with which his election was acclaimed.

I have read thath this see to which I have been appointed is the richest see. What are the riches intended—the riches of material things or the riches of divine grace and spiritual power in Christ Our Saviour?

The city of New York has length and breadth and height and depth of astonishing dimensions, enclosing marvels of human invention and construction and vast treasures of wealth; and while I am not unmoved—and who is not—by the startling evidences of size and of affluence and of progress, I do not estimate this city's preeminence with the eyes of one who regards only the passing, external fashion.

My viewpoint, as a Catholic bishop, is the apprehension of Saint Paul who wrote to the Corinthians:

"We look not at the things that are seen, but the things which are not seen. For the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal."

Where, then, are we to look for the true endowment that enriches a people? Not in outward magnificence, but in the inward man," where Christ dwells by faith and charity.

Whatever be the expressions that have been made concerning my coming, I account myself only as a servant of Jesus Christ, and I just myself in the words of Saint Paul — "not to know anything among you but Jesus Christ and Him crucified."

HELP OF HIS PEOPLE

In the name of Jesus, men and women of religious congregations, may I not count on you to instruct the little ones of the flock of Christ, to aid the poor, to comfort the sick, and to perform all the spiritual and corporal works of mercy, so that through your zeal and sacrifice the charity of Christ may more and more abound?

And to God, for this grace to me unworthy, I bow my head and direct my prayer that His grace in me may not be in vain. The burden is heavy. Without God, my capacity is nothing.

In the end I turn to you all for that help required even by Saint Paul, the apostle of the Gentiles, though he was a vessel of election: "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, through Our Lord Jesus Christ, and by the charity of the Holy Ghost, that you help me in your prayers for me to God."

Gov. Murphy Urges N. H. Tobacco Tax

CONCORD, N. H., May 23 (AP)—Governor Murphy made a personal appeal today to the State legislature for approval of an administration bill calling for a 15 per cent tax on tobacco products.

The governor said revenue from the tax, which he estimated at $1,000,000 a year, would be used to eliminate the direct state tax on property.

Spellman Seen Certain to Be Cardinal in Fall

VATICAN CITY, May 23 (AP)—A Vatican news service said today Pope Pius XII probably would summon a consistory in November to fill some of the 11 vacancies in the college of cardinals.

Church circles considered it likely the Pope would create six or eight new cardinals and that one and possibly two of them would be United States prelates. It is considered possible the number of United States cardinals will be raised to five.

It was believed almost certain that one of the red hats would go to the Most Rev. Francis Joseph Spellman, installed only today as archbishop of New York.

Was I thrilled! Last night I had a birthday party. My sister Anne—she's married and lives in New York—sent me the sweetest dress. It was just like her—remembering me that way. It made me think how much I missed her and the little talks we used to have together.

"I do miss her so," I cried—"I wish I could talk with her right now."

"Go ahead," said Dad glancing at Mother, "Telephone her."

"Me!" I exclaimed. "Imagine me calling New York City!"

Well, I did and it's wonderful how easy it is. Why, in a minute, there we were talking together just like old times. She was pleased as could be—and as for me—I had the happiest birthday ever.

IT'S SO SIMPLE TO TELEPHONE "LONG DISTANCE"

It's as simple to call a friend across the country as a friend across the street—a telephone. Long-distance connections are made almost as quickly as local calls.

Bell System economies and efficiencies have reduced the cost of long-distance calls to surprisingly low levels especially at night and on Sunday. Use long-distance generously when you can't see your friend and you want to call.

The sound, humanitarian principles [illegible] have been disgraced by ill informed sentimentalists," Mr. Hoover [illegible] told the National Fifty Years in Business Club in Nashville, Tenn.

"Last year prison doors opened four times every hour, day and night. A convicted criminal was freed on condition that he abide by certain terms. And this situation has been going on year after year. Often the release was obtained by fraud, and frequently the prisoner was turned loose under almost no supervision.

"And it was not a rare occasion that the person would be given his liberty because of pressure brought to bear upon public officials."

Nor did Mr. Hoover hesitate to place the blame where he believes it belongs. He further said:

"Corruption begets corruption. One of the worst degenerative forces in American life during the past fifty years has been corruption in public office.

"Corrupt politicians make venal politics, and right-thinking citizens know there is but one answer and one remedy. Corruption must be eradicated. Dirt accumulates undisturbed when people grow accustomed to it and no longer feel ashamed.

"Venal machines of corruption attain their power because of a lackadaisical attitude on the part of our citizens, which is far too prevalent. Few communities in the land are free from contamination of the syndicated leeches who masquerade behind the flattering term 'politician.'

"This term when used correctly refers to one skilled in the science of government. No title is more honorable.

"Yet it has been disgraced and corrupted by sinister forces that literally steal the birthrights of free-born American citizens."

"Service in the General Court is not obligatory but optional. This service is not to be undertaken as a profession or a means of livelihood. It is a VOLUNTARY public service.

"In accordance with the principles of our democratic institutions, compensation has been given in order that talent for service, rather than the possession of property, might be the standard of membership. But men are not supposed to serve here for pay."

Ten years [illegible] Governor Allen expressed a similar thought when he opposed [illegible] $1500 to $2000 and reminded the legislature that they [illegible] for more than lawmakers in most other states.

Debate on Braddock; Letter From Gould

HERE'S A PROPER GO, MATES? Somehow, somebody sent a cutting of my recent column on Braddock's financial flop to his manager, Joe Gould. So today Joe takes his typewriter in hand to state that, contrary to general impression, Jimmy has his official blessing in return to the ring wars. "He's fitter now than when he won the title from Max Baer . . ." states jovial Joe. Fitter for what? A clinical hacking about the brain centers?

AUSTEN LAKE

"Braddock isn't busted as wide open as people think . . ." writes Genial Joseph. As to that Jimmy testified differently when we sat in his red-morocco bar off Times Square recently and in his mild way he lamented his lack of business acumen. "I'm just a dumb fighter," he said, "I was a sucker to get into this game. It's put me bust."

The rainbow gold which was supposed to have showered down from his personal popularity had become a soapy mist—a collapsed dream bubble. Fortune, the lipstick jade who had flashed her toothy smile four years ago, had turned fickle. His bankroll—$18,000 from the Baer fight and $40,000 from the Louis bout, had melted like last winter's snows—hotels, handouts and bankruptcy reduced the original stake to a mere lump and Jimmy was back to his old busted state when he trundled freight on the New York docks to buy the bare necessities for his brood.

"So I guess I gotta go back and fight some more," he had said with a doleful shake of his head. The remark doesn't jibe with Gould's letter, "Jimmy doesn't have to fight. He's got a lot of business offers . . ."

Joe Dreamed Too Big

GOULD IS ALL RIGHT! But after the way of his kind he talks large. I remember that afternoon some years ago when he brought Jimmy to Boston to referee the ludicrous O'Mahony-Don George wrestling championship and Joe had breathed delusions about the half million Jimmy would glean within the year. A title fight would yield $300,000 and the rest would come in torrents and cascades, from advertising endorsements, vaudeville tours at $5000 a week, lifting over stiffs for the leaky-roof fight clubs, Hollywood pictures and radio. So said Gould in his cheerful chirp.

"We got a year to make it," said Joe. "Then the fight and after that . . ." he had winked wisely toward Braddock. ". . . hang up the gloves, eh Jim?" Braddock grinned vaguely, duckling his head in assent and Mrs. Braddock, a pleasant faced little woman with brightened eyes, had looked hopeful.

Braddock Didn't Have Color

THE PUBLIC WAS SYMPATHETIC toward Braddock. It did not like him as a man, but regarded him as just another in the endless line of heavyweight champs, one since Gene Tunney including Sharkey's emotional tantrums to the odd-sized circus freak named Carnera and the rubber-faced cake-eater Max Baer. The people had been educated to consider Braddock was just an orderly silent man with simple Christian principles, a decent for the Lindbergh hope of the prize ring. He never took to the cocktails to have one more cigar.

But Jim's record was a thing of fistic joy, since meeting a major domo named Frank Bonasso, a strawberry blonde lady scatter and an Erench valet named Kettler. He carried a carload of property trunks full of white mohair suits, tubs of silk shirts and ties to be made under ward. He lived five room suites. Beverly was always in order with cinches to the press and Max presiding on the throne as host of a musical comedy hero.

Carnera had moved with his band of body masters, who divided his press agents themselves and surrounded him like a squad of keepers with a trained gorilla. After his primitive manner Primo tried to live up to the image of his station, booming his big spending around the world and striking like a monstrous Frankenstein through streets of gaping crowds.

Here's Luck James!

SHARKEY'S GIFT WAS IN HIS ACRID temper and the volume of newsprint that he furnished by his unpredictable nature, his railings at the press and his contempt for people. He shunned the fans, which made them run after him just to peep at his pale eyes and hear him chew his words like so much verbal breakfast food. They pretended to dislike him, but actually they loved his oddities.

Max Schmeling, being shaggy, beetle-browed and German, was more ordinary. His only claim to color was a manager, Joe Jacobs, who was fashioned on the lines of Sliding Billy Watson, the burlesque cuckoo, and ran to plaid shirts, falsetto profanities, perfume, a tam o'shanter and big black cigars thrust at battle angles in his rubbery lips.

But Braddock was, and still is, just a workaday family man who regards the fistic profession less as a joy than a sordid livelihood. He lacks genius for the sideshow goofishness which fills columns in the newspapers and whets the curiosity of the fight mob. For repetition makes reputation and Jimmy didn't get much of either.

So the people wouldn't buy thimbles of hootch and fancy fodder in his Broadway chump-trap. The radio sponsors wouldn't hire him to talk. And advertisers wouldn't buy his signatures for their products. And he wound up a bankrupt and is obliged, pathetically, to submit his aging body to the dangers of the prize ring.

So the worst that one wishes Jimmy, plain, sane and ordinary boxer with a heartful of flaming courage, is lots of luck. I'm afraid he'll need it!

HOSE HELP FOES, O. K. NIGHT TILTS

By JOE CASHMAN

The Fenway favorites had just learned officially that their bosses had agreed to let them try to outshine heavenly stars in two night tilts.

YANKS, TIGERS CHANGE MIND

These illuminated frays will be interesting as novelties and innovations. And they figure to enrich the competing clubs to some extent.

They'll have little or no bearing on the final outcome of the current flag race.

EACH WAIT FOR BREAK

If the Yanks can open a commanding edge . . . the argument with the Sox they'll have better control of the situation.

If the Red Sox can fashion a rejuvenated club . . . they'll have a fighting chance.

The Cleveland can fashion a rejuvenated club . . . they'll have a fighting chance.

If the two leaders even as they and set what they'll put and look down to the race with the aid of the long reading telescope to see what's going up there.

The Yanks are probably content . . . scaring the Sox to death the

M'FAYDEN OPPOSES CUBS IN FINAL TILT

CHICAGO, May 23—Danny MacFayden vs. Walter Higbe will be the starting pitchers when the Bees and Chicago Cubs tangle today for the third and final game of their series. Danny in the past has given the Cubs all sorts of trouble which accounts for Manager Casey Stengel sending his veteran right-hander to the hilltop today.

The Boston club has hit hard . . . spots on their first western trip . . . and Manager Stengel has hopes . . . of getting out of Chicago with a . . . 2 to 1 edge over the Hartnett tribe. It just seems the Quinn delegation . . . meet one tough opponent after the . . . other. For after their session with . . . the Cubs today they take on the . . . Cardinals, who at the present time . . . are making a real bid for the National League flag.

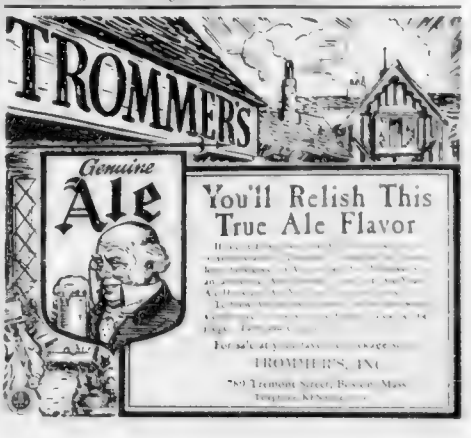
Lady Luck has been mighty kind . . .

Sox Grab Passes, Angered Solons Plan Reprisal

"They shall not pass" was a slogan which threatened today to make legislative trouble for Boston's baseball clubs.

Angered by the action of the Red Sox management in taking up passes issued to legislators because presented by non-legislators, a group of representatives today was planning new legislation.

Under the proposed bill professional ball games would be held on Sunday only with the permission of the department of public safety or after payment of a $1000 fee.



Salt Water Fishing Attracts Anglers

By DARK MONTREAL

There's a lot about salt water fishing that gets under the skin. Cape Cod natives say it gets into the blood, and of this or that ocean angler: "There's herrin's blood in him."

"Trout are well enough," he confided, "but I like the open ocean and a fish that's big enough so you can wrestle with him."

Three rainbow trout averaging 4 pounds were caught in Long Pond by Truman Tisdale of Taunton, fishing out of Elmer Raymond's. H. A. Barlow of Mattapoisett who took the 5-pound brown trout at Cliff this spring fished alongside Tisdale with little success. Barlow said nine Sundays, by the way that he took his big brown on a white streamer and not as first reported on silver.

Assawompset Queries

A Trout or Mirror. The camp is a grand place to fish for fighting trout and if Uncle Hi could be persuading us to go to Buzzards Bay on one of his Wright Liddy and let your bait go with the tide.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner and Marie Hall of Marshfield Hills state that they caught trout and pickerel in Long Pond of the Hanson Parker forest. Berry Pond and Skug river were also stocked with trout. That Sunday list of mine was not meant to be complete.

To Mr. and Mrs. Mason B. Young, Long Pond, Plymouth, fame the latter came just around the east corner of the cove on Sept. 9. Each used the deep water to the south of the open shore and the same holds true for the West of Duxbury. From 10 to 12 feet deep and use crumming shrimp.

Montanez Gets Big Ring Chance

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Pedro Montanez, the only Filipino boxer ever to win a championship in the United States, will meet Solomon Graham of Washington, D. C., for the featherweight championship of the world at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Montanez, who is a 2 to 1 favorite to win, is the first of Manila's boxers to win a championship in the United States.

The winner is expected to meet Petey Sarron, the Little Arabian, for the Ring Magazine championship.

Laugh At Fate

It takes a woman to give man spunk. Jessie Simpson, a New Jersey lass, triumphed over the loss of both her legs in an accident and is pictured with Monty Straton, former White Sox hurling ace who lost one of his limbs in a hunting accident last fall. Jessie is now proprietor of a beauty shop while Monty is coaching the young hurlers on the squad. With all his handicap, Monty has hopes of flinging 'em for Chisox. Jessie's courage has given Monty added incentive to win.

13 Good Luck Token For Manero in Open

After he had been awarded the fifth and final place allotted to the New England section for the United States open championship, Tony Manero, Salem, who was the 1936 national open titleholder was all smiles.

"Well, you can't tell me that 13 is an unlucky number," declared Tony. "I had 13 clubs in my bag, used 13 golf balls and this is to be my 13th try for the U. S. open title."

Tony had a very close call at Winchester. In the morning he had a 79, which tied him for sixth place, with Graham Reid, Ben Loving and Paul Bell.

Just before starting the P. M. round Tony stated that he was aiming to grab off third place.

Tony finally won the fifth position from Ed Burke of Hampden, Ct., who was named alternate.

The other qualifiers, all professionals, were Tom Mahan of United Shoe, Jim Turnesa of Providence, John Thoren of Woodland and Jerry Gianferante of St. Croix, Me.

Tom Mahan, who tied for the medal with Jim Turnesa, Louisquissett, hasn't qualified for a U. S. open championship since 1935. Mahan has been playing great golf all season and he was right at the peak of his game.

Among the missing today on the list of qualifiers for the national open at the Philadelphia Country Club June 8, 9 and 10 were two former champions, Walter Hagen, two-time winner, and Chick Evans, open champ in 1916, twice amateur champ.

Eliminated along with Hagen and Evans were such stars as Joe Kirkwood and Leo Diegel, who fell with Hagen at Philadelphia; Jimmy Thompson, from Shawnee-n-Delaware, Pa.; Al Waltrous of Detroit, who missed the boat for the first time since 1926; all the four Turnesa brothers except Willie, the amateur, and even the mysterious John Montague, who was knocked out at Chicago.

Yates Roots in 45-Footer; Wins Throng by 'Gift'

HOYLAKE, Eng., May 23—After playing the first nine in 37 to be 2 up, Charley Yates needed a 45-foot putt to tie Cameron's birdie 3 at the 10th and got it.

"G'wan, get in there," yelled Yates as the ball rolled for the cup.

"Get in the house there, get in," he shouted again at the 14th, where his cup shot just by the cup and Cameron managed to catch him.

The gallery cheered the champion when at the 13th green Yates gave his opponent a three-foot putt in the height of the battle.

HARVEY, McAVOY TO GO

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Len Harvey and Jock McAvoy, British heavyweight and middleweight boxing champions, respectively, will fight at Harringay Arena June 22 for the "world light heavyweight championship.'

Yates, Chapman Win; To Battle Tomorrow

HOYLAKE, Eng., May 23 (INS)—Playing steady golf all the way, young Charlie Yates, the Atlanta bank clerk, today continued his march toward a second straight British amateur golf championship by advancing into the third round with a 2 and 1 victory over Donald Cameron, Scotch ace.

Coming in on the heels of his fellow-American, Dick Chapman, socialite golfer from Greenwich, Conn., fairly galloped through his second-round match with M. W. Budd, another of the British contingent, swamping the latter by 5 and 4.

Thus an all-American third-round battle was arranged for tomorrow, with Yates to take on Chapman.

Chapman shot 35 to round the turn 3 up on Budd and, with a streak of almost flawless putting, went on to a one-sided victory.

Jim Bruen, Irish star and co-favorite with Yates, won 4 and 2 over Len Crawley, ex-Walker Cup ace, today.

Ellsworth Vines, the California tennis pro, who plays his first match tomorrow, showed up at the course for the first time in time to join the Yates-Cameron gallery.

Hoylake Results

Charley Yates, Atlanta, defeated Donald Cameron, Scotland, 2 and 1.

Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., defeated M. W. Budd, England, 5 and 3.

Jim Bruen, Ireland, defeated Leonard Crawley, England, 4 and 2.

Alex Kyle, Scotland, defeated Sam McKinlay, Scotland, 6 and 5.

Hector Thomson, Scotland, defeated Andrew McNair, England, 2 and 1.

Gordon Peters, England, defeated T. E. Cunningham, England, 6 and 4.

Eric Fiddian, England, defeated J. W. Chance, England, 8 and 7.

E. J. Phillips, Philadelphia, lost to John F. Morrison of England, 1 up.

Hassett Proves Valuable Player | Flock of Twin Bills Worry Joe Cronin

Pres. Bob Quinn of the Bees should award Dolly Stark a "B" for calling Steve Mesner's drive a two bagger instead of allowing it to go for a home run . . . But for Umpire Stark's courage, the Bees would have gone down to defeat instead of squaring the series with the Cubs.

Buddy Hassett is by far the most valuable player that the Bees acquired during the off season . . . He's hitting .338 and has driven in 16 runs . . . Dick Errickson has been doing some great relief work of late . . . He was responsible for both of the wins that the Bees have chalked up on this trip . . .

Buddy Hassett

It's not good "politics" to mention double-headers in the presence of Joe Cronin . . . The Red Sox have 16 double-headers listed and the season is only a month old . . . Woody Rich goes for the Sox this afternoon in the windup game of the Detroit series . . . He'll oppose modest Buck Newsom . . . Them that has gets . . . So the Yanks got a break yesterday when the rain stopped their game with Cleveland before they finished their half of the 5th inning, with the Indians leading 4 to 1.

Johnny Burke, the National Intercollegiate champion, who has held all of the Rhode Island titles, was elected captain of the 1940 Georgetown golf team . . . Speaking of "Little Rhody," Charlie Hartley, secretary of the R. I. G. A., is bemoaning the fact that he will not be able to muster his full strength of golfers for the Tri-State matches . . .

Johnny Burke will be down in Washington, Sam Neild, Jr., will be out at Notre Dame, Bud Patterson is a freshman at Brown and is plugging for his final exams and Charlie Round cannot afford to take time off from the Harvard Medical School . . .

SAM NEILD ILL

Rhode Island hasn't enough top notch amateurs to fill in for that quartet . . . There's a rumor in Pawtucket that Sam Neild, Jr., who is a former Hearst New England junior champion, is down with pneumonia out at South Bend, Ind. . . .

Bobby Knowles and Allan V. Ellis played with clubs that they'd never used before at Winchester . . . Their clubs were stolen last Saturday along with Bobby Knowles' automobile . . . The machine was recovered but not the clubs . . . Abe Mitchell, who returned from Pinehurst, N. C., a few days ago, is getting ready to summer at the Equinox Country Club at Manchester, Vt. . . .

Mrs. Beard

"Mitch" will be Jack Patron's assistant . . . Unless they each break a leg, Mrs. Warren Beard, the state champion, and Mrs. Henri F. Prunaret, Jr., who will represent Charles River C. C., should be so far out in front at the end of the first round of the Townshend Cup matches today at Pine Brook Valley that the other contenders will conceed them a victory . . . Because the state amateur championship took over the dates, the annual Tedesco women's four-ball invitation tourney will be played this month . . .

MAT PULLS FAST ONE

You can get four for one fo' your money if you think you can play the last four holes at Tedesco 4—4—4—4 . . . It hasn't been accomplished as yet . . . And, a certain party is picking up a nice piece of change from the boys who think pretty well of their games . . .

The Essex County Club will be officially opened Saturday . . . Eugene "Skip" Wogan has been resting up all winter at Essex and John Fitzgerald and Gene McDonough have been on the jump for a week . . . Jack Stimpson, who was the club maker at The Country Club for a number of years, stepped out this spring . . . He's the pro at Juniper Hill . . .

One of the best stories that Mat Campbell, the veteran pro, ever told on himself was after he had attempted to give a golf lesson to the Turkish ambassador at Essex . . . Upon his return to the pro shop "Mat" was asked by "Skip" Wogan how he had made out . . . "It was tough, Skip," confessed Mat. "Neither one of us could speak English" . . .

Denny Shute, former pro at Brae Burn, is resting up at his home down in Huntington, W. Va. . . . C. Harry Bowler, Marlborough, a great Bing Crosby booster, after spending the winter in Hollywood, Cal. . . . He says that Crosby is second to none on hospitality . . . Jim Lally, who was a pro golfer for many years, is now in the insurance business . . . He has applied for his amateur reinstatement . . . Jack McCarthy, Belmont, was voted the best dressed man at Pinehurst by the golf pros this winter . . .

The United States Golf Association should start a drive to standardize "over" and "under" . . . When anyone is asked how a player stands in a golf tournament, the answer is "Three Under" or "Two Over" . . . Some mean that it is "Three Under 4s" or "Two Over 4s" . . . Others figure the scores under or over par . . . It is very confusing particularly when figured on par, for strangers seldom know the in and out par . . .

Huskies Play At Durham, N. H.

Northeastern's varsity baseball team concludes its New England College Conference League season tomorrow at Durham, N. H., when it plays University of New Hampshire in a return game.

A fortnight ago the Wildcats scored an easy 12-4 victory behind the sensational pitching of Al Roper, but since that time Coach Herb Gallagher has made several shifts in the Northeastern line-up, and the results have been gratifying.

The Huskies have won four of the last five games, and eight out of 14 for the season, with eight regulars all batting .300 or better. Only defeat in the last few weeks was at the hands of Harvard, 6-4.

Garnet Gibson, rated the standout on a mediocre staff, will get the mound assignment tomorrow, and Alex Struzziero of East Boston will be returned to right field as a regular. The new infield of Foxy Flumere at first, Joe Beaton at second, Captain Bill Little at short, and Sammy Swardlick at third, will remain intact.
